What to expect

- » Entering into a custom quilt commission is equivalent to entering into a contract between artist (us) and patron (you).
- » For most logistics, questions, and dialogue of this process the preferred mode of communication will be email correspondence.
- » Work begins upon receiving your deposit of 50% of your commission's estimated price, as agreed upon by both parties.
- » Work is completed by the estimated date of completion, as agreed upon by both parties.
- » There are additional charges for certain elements of your commission such as custom colors, packing, and shipping.
- » You will receive your completed custom quilt upon payment of your commission's remaining balance.
- » Cash or credit cards are the only accepted forms of payment.
- » Price estimations, including any up-charges, and completion date estimations are subject to change. In the case of such events, you will be notified of these changes as soon as they are brought to our attention.
- » We use only the highest quality materials, and work meticulously and diligently to perfect each and every quilt; we simple cannot fathom selling an unsatisfactory quilt- we will not stop or change work mid-commission, nor will we refund any deposit or final payment.
